Excess Incorporated Announces New Macon DC

Macon, GA – Excess Incorporated has purchased a 90,000 sf warehouse on Franklinton Road to serve as the location for its new distribution center. In business since 1979, Excess Incorporated has corporate offices located in Westlake, Ohio and warehousing in Cleveland, Ohio.

Excess Incorporated plans to create 6 jobs within the first six months and invest approximately $1.5 million in the new facility. The primary use of the building will be warehousing, distribution, and packaging. Excess will also lease out nearly 50,000 sf of warehouse space to local and/or national companies.

“Georgia’s strength in logistics and its business-friendly environment are attractive to companies like Excess Incorporated,” said Ken Stewart, commissioner of the Georgia Department of Economic Development (GDEcD). “With our transportation network and a ready workforce, Georgia is a natural fit for distribution centers.”

“We chose the Macon area for a number of reasons. Our goal is to expand our import/export business and the Macon Economic Development Commission and the Georgia Department of Economic Development have gone out of their way to assist,” said Ron Dunn, president of Excess Incorporated. “The excellent geographic location allows us to save on transportation costs. We are also impressed by the amenities, business community and the high-caliber workforce. We look forward to growing here in Middle Georgia.”

“We are pleased Excess Incorporated has chosen Macon and Bibb County for its new warehousing and distribution facility,” said Billy Pitts, Macon Economic Development Commission Chairman. “Macon and Bibb County’s central location and logistics network position us to attract suppliers to our core industries. Excess Incorporated’s location is yet another example that Macon works for warehouse, logistics, and distribution.”

Candice Scott, Regional Project Manager for the Georgia Department of Economic Development assisted Excess Incorporated in its location.
